The Farm Shop

Curated by Marco Campardo, Guan Lee and Luca Lo Pinto

16 September – 15 October 2023

209 Brompton Road

London, SW3 2EJ

Grymsdyke Farm is a research facility, fabrication workshop and living-working space with a particular interest in the essential connections between processes of design, making and situation. Through its communal and collaborative approach, this is a place where people can exchange ideas, working methods, and expertise.

Over the summer of 2023, each designer was invited to partake in a residency on the farm and utilise the facilities to produce one element of a dining collection. Thinking about the relationship of people and the spaces they live in, the designers examine how setting and community inform design and how it connects us to the people and places around us.

The outcomes are direct engagements with the farm's local community and material palette and explore where the things around us come from and how we can care for them. Functioning as an interactive space for visitors to engage, the exhibition presents the collection for the first time and celebrates the conviviality of the objects we live with.
